Research

The Cognition and Memory Disorders Service has been actively engaged in patient-centred research since 1996, being fully supported by the parent Department of Geriatric Medicine. This includes publications in both local and internationally-renowned journals, research collaborations with other healthcare professionals, and clinical therapeutic trials.

Original articles, review articles, letters to editors, book chapters

1996

1997

1999

2000

2002
2003

2004

2005

2006

2007

2008

Abstract publications

L Lim, MA Lam, MS Chong (2009) Low socioeconomic status, social isolation and challenging behaviors are risk factors for institutionalization in dementia patients in an acute care setting. Alzheimer’s Disease International, accepted.

P Anthony, HC Han, MS Chong. Utilization of Dementia Day Care Services By Dementia Patients Attending A Tertiary Memory Clinic in Singapore. Alzheimer’s Disease International, accepted

HC Han, P Anthony, MS Chong. Severity of Neuropsychiatric Symptoms and Related Caregiver Distress And Not Caregiver Knowledge Contribute to Caregiver Burden in Mild to Moderate Dementia Patients Attending A Tertiary Memory Clinic: An Asian Experience. Alzheimer’s Disease International, accepted

WS Lim, M Chan, MS Chong (2009). Is amnestic MCI a different entity from non-amnestic MCI. 19th IAGG Congress of Gerontology and Geriatrics, submitted.